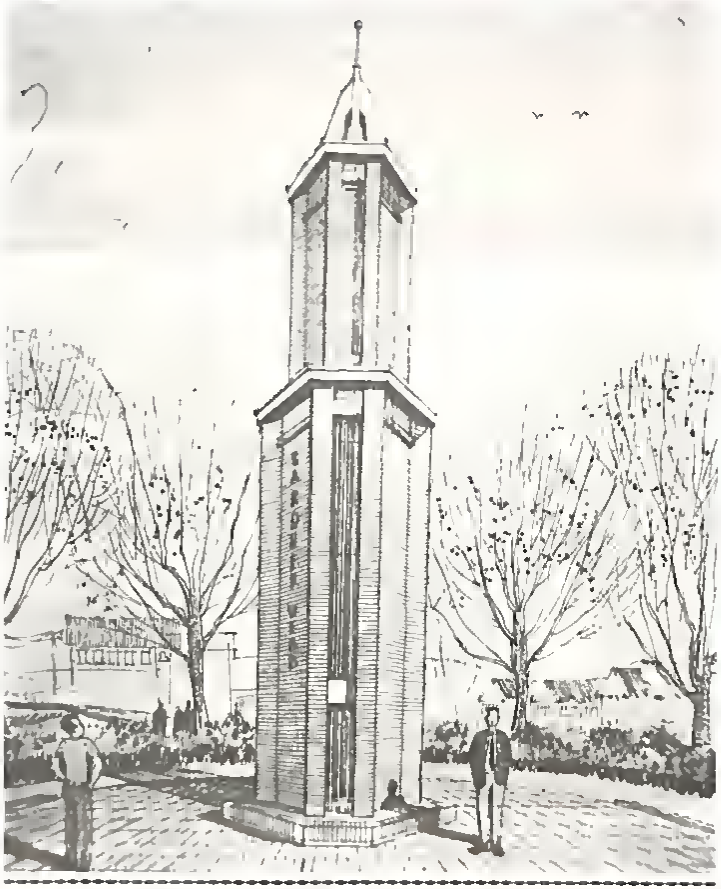
GARDNER-WEBB COLLEGE

VOLUME I | BOILING SPRINGS, N. C., JULY 1968 | NUMBER 9



Entrance Under Construction

BEAUTIFICATION PROJECT PROGRESSES

A tower of light, symbolic of the Trinity, will be the focal part of the new entrance to Gardner-Webb College. The tri-sided structure will rise 50 feet above the campus and will have internal lights which shine through translucent panels.

Topped by a "folding type design" symbolic of the praying hands, this beautiful structure will be of colonial brick with cast stone to pick up the materials used in other buildings on campus.

Also a part of the $80,000 project will be a 20 feet fountain and pool which will once again give the Town of Boiling Springs a reason for its name.

When the historic boiling springs west of the campus ceased boiling in the 1950's, the town's name lost some meaning. Now near the main intersection of the town water will boil and bubble up from this fountain and cascade over 22 tons of feather rock.

The feather rock is an interesting aspect of the project. It is a lava-type rock from California which is five times lighter than granite. This allows the use of huge boulders in the pool without excessive weight or transportation problems.

Visitors to the town and the college will see the fountain first in its location on the site of the old McSwain's Store. Walkways will be on all sides of it. Further south, and to an area between the present Arch and the church building, the tower of light will be erected.

The Huggins-Curtis Arch will be moved to a new location on campus. The site is yet undetermined.

Other parts of the project include moving the present administration parking lot to a site behind the Webb Building, filling in the present entrance and parking lot and landscaping it.

Construction was begun the middle of June and a 90 day completion date has been set. A. A. Ramsey & Sons and Spangler & Sons Concrete Co., both of Shelby, will do the construction work. This contract does not include the planting which will be done in the fall of this year supervised by Larry Vaughn of Raleigh.

C. L. Vaughn and Associates of Shelby are the architects of this project about which Vaughan stated "We hope this entrance will set the pace for the college trustees' beautification plans for G-W."

THE HUGGINS MEMORIAL ARCH . . . once more will be moved to a new location. It is shown here after its erection in 1943 as a memorial to Professor J. D. Huggins who was the principal of the Boiling Springs High School and first dean of the Boiling Springs Junior College. The arch was moved in 1963 to its present location in front of the Webb Administration Building.

THE G. T. McSWAIN Store stood for decades on the corner of the entrance to the Gardner-Webb campus. The college purchased this site when the McSwain's store was moved to a new location around three years ago. The store building has been torn down and with the new entrance construction there will be a "boiling springs" fountain and pool on this site.

WITH THE ALUMNI

B. Elmo Scoggin '35, professor of Old Testament at Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary, has been awarded a post doctoral fellowship for study at the Hebrew Union College, Biblical and Archaeological School in Jerusalem.

Jay L. Jenkins '38 has been named chief of the editorial pages of the Winston-Salem Journal and Sentinel newspapers. Prior to this appointment, Jay was bureau chief for the Charlotte Observer in Raleigh. Since the beginning of his news career, he has worked for the United Press, The Daily Star of Shelby, the Wilmington Star-News, and was the managing editor of The Raleigh Times. Jay has won six N. C. Press Association prizes for news, feature and editorial writing, and in 1952 won national recognition (the Sidney Hillman Award) for a series of articles that helped expose the Ku Klux Klan of that era.

On furlough from mission work in Pukalani, Hawaii, is Miss Bertie Lee Kendrick '41. She accepted the invitation of Pukalani Baptist Church to be educational director in 1962. Her great devotion to this work was recognized in 1963 when Bertie was given a testimonial dinner. She is spending this summer in Spindale with friends.

Rev. Guy Johnson '44, director of the Crusade for Christ and pastor of the Main Street Baptist Church in Spindale, has worked with a member of the Billy Graham's Crusade team in leading an area Crusade for Christ for Rutherford and Polk counties and the surrounding areas. Prior to this meeting, a series of courses was given for counselors who were assisting in this meeting with Dr. C. E. Autrey of Atlanta, Georgia as speaker.

The N. C. Dental Auxiliary recently installed Mary Queen Megginson '45 as their new president. She has served as staff reporter for the Shelby Daily Star and later as a staff writer for the University News Bureau at Chapel Hill. Mary is a past president of the Third District Dental Auxiliary and has served for a number of years as publicity chairman of both the Third District Dental Auxiliary and the N. C. Dental Auxiliary. She and her husband, Dr. L. P. Megginson, Jr. make their home in High Point and are the parents of five children.

Clemon A. Smith '48 of Lexington has been elected as principal of the Hasty Elementary School by the Davidson County Board of Education. He has been a principal for 11 years. The last eight years he has been principal of the Eanes Elementary School in Lexington. He is married to the former Evelyn Sink of Lexington and they have a 7 year old son.

Lakebrook Baptist Church of Hickory has extended a call to Rev. Hampton Sconce '51 and he has accepted the pastorate. A native of Catawba county, he is married to the former Hazel Beard and they have two married daughters.

South Stanley High School has appointed George Reynolds '54 of Charleston, S. C. as principal. He graduated from Lenoir-Rhyne College and received his M.A. degree from Appalachian State University. George has been active in several school systems before accepting this position. He and his wife, the former Doris Brown of Lincolnton have two children.

Rev. Hugh L. Borders '56 of Lattimore has recently accepted the pastorate of the First Baptist Church in Spruce Pine. He was pastor for the Lattimore Baptist Church for seven years, previous pastorates were in Grover and Spring Hope.

Graduating from Pfeiffer College on May 13 was David H. Cline, III '58, an accounting major. He and his wife, the former May Mullinax are living in Salisbury. He has been employed at Haskins and Sells, certified public accountants, Charlotte.

. . . THE EXTRA DIMENSION — CHRISTIAN EDUCATION

CHAPTER CHAIRMEN

Meeting with alumni of the College in a number of areas since January has been a real joy. Some hard promotional work went into setting up the meetings. We are very much in debt to a number of fine people for what they did in making arrangements. Their names do not appear here for public acknowledgment of the good work. We do appreciate them and their efforts.

However, we do list for you the Chapter Chairman for the chapters that we have worked with in these months. If you live in or near one of these places, you may want to get in touch with the proper person. There will be further meetings in each of these places.

And additional work will result in many more meeting places as the effort is continued this fall. There are some seven chapters in Rutherford and Cleveland counties that are to be activated. Many other areas are to be organized. Help us in this regard as your area is a consideration.

CLASS AGENTS

We are grateful to the persons named below for the work that has been done in helping us keep up with our alumni. The program has just begun. It can be an effective phase of alumni development if you will assist us. Why not keep your Agent informed of your whereabouts and activities?

"The Web" in May was a twelve page enlarged edition. The one for November will be of the same style. The other eight issues each year are four pages. This means you have a regular visitor in your home. Help us make it worthwhile. Share with us ideas. Bring to our attention news of yourself and others. Especially share with the agents.

Noted Alumnus Speaks at G-W

Ray Brown '34, one of Gardner-Webb's most outstanding alumni, was a guest speaker May 28 for members of the faculty, administration and nursing department.

Brown serves as Executive Vice-President of the Affiliated Hospital Center in Boston, Mass. He is ranked as one of the top national experts in the field of hospital administration and his advice is rated as important in both private and public planning of hospital work.

He had much to do with authoring the details of the Medicare Bill. "We are deeply committed to a policy of equal access to hospitals by every level of the population," stated Brown.

His May 28 topic was "The Evolving Hospital and Its Implications for Health and Manpower." Roy Creech, administrator of the Cleveland Memorial Hospital, introduced Brown as "the top man in my profession in this nation." The introduction included facts about Brown's work as Professor of Administration and Director of the Graduate Program in Hospital Administration at Duke University and as Director of the Graduate Program in Hospital Administration at the University of Chicago.

Brown's first comments were that Creech had neglected to comment about his years at G-W. "Some of the happiest times of my life were spent here." Brown said, adding that he was glad to see the Associate in Arts Degree Nursing Program in operation. This program will provide the largest supply of nurses for this area, commented Brown.

GROUP TOURS HOLY LAND

Dr. E. Eugene Poston, president of Gardner-Webb College, led a touring group through Europe and the Holy Land June 5 - 26.
